

this I know about home

home is where the heart is home is wherever I lay my hat if I had one home is where I know the channels on the TV home is where I have a key to the door home is where I convert to the local voltage home is where I find the space to write home is where I find a way to go online home is where I never check my mail home is where I disconnect the phone home is where I close the door behind me home is where I can't find sleep at night home is where I sleep with somebody home is where somebody else also lives home is what we always come back to this I have come to know about home since I began to think that I want home to be like this
